By Telegram to The Freeman.
Springfield, Mo., Sept. 18.—Preliminary investigation, federal authorities are today keeping a close censorship in force regarding the head-on collision between a troop train and a freight train near Marshallfield, Mo., in which twenty-five soldiers were killed and between fifty and sixty injured.

The cause of the crash has not been made known. The baggage car of the troop train was entirely demolished and the first passenger car was hurled upon the engine's tender. In this coach were a scattering of Missouri soldiers. It was here that the death toll was taken.

From the wreckage twenty bodies were early recovered, but later the number grew to twenty-five. The injured are being cared for at local hospitals here, having been hurried to the city on relief trains.

The bodies of the dead were brought to Springfield also, where they will be prepared for shipment to their respective homes.

Until the censorship is lifted, names of the dead and wounded have been withheld.

HOOVER WOULD HAVE REAL WAR BREAD

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 18.—The American people will be called upon to eat real "war bread" similar to that which their allies now have to be content with if an amendment favored by Food Administrator Herbert Hoover is added to the pending $8,182,492,000 revenue bill.

Hoover would require the use in this country of mixed flour in the baking of bread—80 per cent wheat and 20 per cent of other cereals.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, at the suggestion of Hoover today submitted to the house ways and means committee, of which he is a member, the proposed Hoover amendment which would abolish the tax of four cents a barrel on mixed flour which has prevailed since it was established, as a revenue raising measure during the Spanish-American war. In this way, Hoover would exempt such flour from taxation and make it so cheap and plentiful as to virtually compel its use in bread-making in view of the cost of wheat flour.

SELECTIVES TO JOIN NAVY AND MARINES

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Sept. 18.—Calls for induction of selective service men into the navy and marine corps are to be issued within the next few weeks. Provost Marshal General Crowder today notified draft officials of all the states. With few exceptions, these calls will be similar to the ordinary calls for the army, and will be for men taken from the ordinary run of the draft as a sequence of order number, and for men with special or technical qualifications.

The qualifications for enlistment in the navy shall obtain when men are inducted into this branch of the service. General Crowder announced. This means selectives who are not citizens and who cannot speak, read and write the English language will not be accepted. Conscientious objectors and men with communicable diseases also are barred.

Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Four persons were burned to death here today when an electric iron became overheated and set fire to the table on which it stood. The dead are:

Mrs. Sam Rosenbalt; her father, Max Rosenbalt, and her two children, Jerome, aged five, and Shirley, three years old.

The house was practically destroyed.

Want Restoration of Order in China.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 18.—There is a growing demand that the Allies intervene in China to restore order, according to a dispatch from Peking today. The Chinese war in China has come to a deadlock, but the country is overrun with soldiers and brigands and all business has come to a standstill.

Troy Police Want Raise.

The members of the police department of Troy have asked the mayor for a raise in pay. They ask that captains be paid $1,500, sergeants, $1,300, and patrolmen, $1,200.

FARLEY TO HAVE IMPRESSIVE BURIAL

Body Will be Taken to New York Thursday and Escorted to St. Patrick's—Body at Residence Thursday.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Sept. 18.—Complete plans will be announced during the day for the funeral of John Cardinal Farley, archbishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of New York, who died last night at his summer home near Mamaroneck, after an illness of six weeks.

"The end came peacefully and beautifully," said the Right Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, auxiliary bishop of the diocese. "The cardinal had had several sinking spells during the afternoon and each left him weaker. Several times we felt that the end had come, but he rallied. We were prepared, because the physicians had told us there was no hope for recovery."

The funeral ceremonies will be the most impressive held in New York in years. Today the cardinal's body will remain at his Mamaroneck home, and there will be no special services. Tomorrow afternoon the body will be brought to New York. Following the hearse will be the cardinal's committee and other Catholic organizations. Along the route the various Catholic congregations will assemble.

A detachment from the 69th regiment will meet the cortege in New York and accompany it to St. Patrick's cathedral.

Prayers for the dead will be said at the cathedral tomorrow, and the body will be taken to the cardinal's residence. Friday afternoon it will be again taken to the cathedral for the clergy's service for the dead.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the children of the diocese will attend a solemn high requiem mass at the cathedral.

Throughout Sunday the cardinal's body will lie in state in the cathedral while the usual religious services of the day are held.

At 10 o'clock Monday morning a special solemn pontifical service will be attended by the religious orders of the diocese and at 8 o'clock Monday evening matin and lauds will be recited.

At 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the final funeral services will be held and the cardinal's body will be laid at rest in the cathedral crypt.

Catholics and Protestants, clergy and laity, joined today in expressing sorrow at the cardinal's death.

John Murphy Farley, Archbishop of New York, was created and proclaimed a Cardinal of the Roman Catholic Church on November 27, 1911.

One of the greatest demonstrations any ecclesiastical individual ever received in this country was accorded the new prince of the church when he returned to New York on January 17, 1912. Thousands upon thousands greeted him when he landed at the Battery.

Having accepted these signal honors, Cardinal Farley returned to the generally simple habits of life and the exacting duties which were still his as archbishop of New York. In this capacity he had already made himself one of the most influential and popular religious leaders of the city. All of his ecclesiastical life, with the exception of his pilgrimage to Rome, was spent in New York.

Native of Ireland.

He was born April 20, 1842, at Newton Hamilton, County Armagh, Ireland, the son of Philip and Catherine (Murphy) Farley. His father was an inn-keeper. Both parents died when the boy was only seven years old, and he was left largely to make his own way.

Through the auspices of an uncle, he came to New York and continued his education at St. John's College, Fordham, and at St. Joseph's Seminary at Troy. Four more years he spent at the American College in Rome, Italy, and was ordained as a priest there June 11, 1870.

His influence and popularity increased steadily, and upon Archbishop Corrigan's death in 1902 the clergy and the bishops were practically unanimous in asking for his appointment of Bishop Farley as successor. He was appointed and from the first he proved himself a master in church government.

He was the spiritual head of nearly one and one-half millions of souls and under his jurisdiction were nearly as many different nationalities as are found anywhere in the Roman Catholic world. He was an accomplished linguist, able to converse with most of his foreign people in their own tongue.

As Manager of Men.

It was as a manager of men and under his jurisdiction were nearly as many different nationalities as are found anywhere in the Roman Catholic world. He was an accomplished linguist, able to converse with most of his foreign people in their own tongue.

WOMAN LAND ARMY DRIVE STARTS TODAY

Memberships Range From One to One Hundred Dollars—Prominent Speakers to Aid—Plans of Leaders.

The campaign of the Woman's Land Army of New York state for new members and funds to strengthen the organization back of the farmers next spring begins today.

The chairmen of the various wards are to distribute literature descriptive of the achievements of the woman farmers during the past season and arousing the public to the importance of the work being undertaken.

On Saturday afternoon there will be a booth at Forsyth Park for the enrolling of members and later it is expected other booths will be erected in various convenient places in the city. They will be in charge of Mrs. Harold King, assisted by members of the Ulster County Garden Club.

Membership is divided in four classes:

$1.00 makes one a tiller; $5 a year one becomes a planter; for $25 a year one is a gleaner and for $100 a harvester.

There isn't one of us but what can become a tiller.

"The time has come when American women must feed the world," says Miss Sophie Carey of the National Council of England, who will speak in Saugerties on September 24 and at the suffrage meeting in Kingston on the 26th, and at other places during the drive.

Two hundred well equipped camps must be established next spring if the land army is to work efficiently to fill the places of the men who are at the front. The farms must be worked to raise the food that must have in 1919 and the farmers will have to rely upon the hundreds of patriotic women all over the country who are eagerly waiting to take up the work. But money is needed to finance the enterprise to put it on its feet, so that its efficiency will not be hampered by conditions such as it has struggled under during the last summer.

There will be a speaking campaign in the theaters in the city and the pastors of the churches will be asked to address their congregations on the subject.

SAW SINKING OF U-BOAT

Iselin Was on Destroyer Which Rescued French Sailors and Later Sank Undersea Pirate With Gunfire and Bombs.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Sept. 18.—Ensign Oliver Iselin, Jr., of New York, tells a thrilling story of a sea fight in which an American destroyer badly damaged and probably sank a German U-boat, in a letter just received here by one of his friends.

"The day before the scrap," he writes, "we rescued 125 French sailors and five officers from life rafts upon which they had taken refuge after the torpedoing of the French cruiser Du Petit Thouars."

"The next morning our destroyer and the submarine were dogging each other, probably without knowing it. In the afternoon we turned suddenly and saw the periscope and conning tower of our port bow. A few hundred yards off our port bow."

"We went for him full speed. He disappeared, but a few seconds later we let go several depth charges. Turning, we were repeating the performance when we saw the U-boat again, with his rudder probably damaged, trying to get to the surface."

"We let go with four shots from our guns. It was the prettiest shooting I ever saw. The last two shots were direct hits. The men at the guns said they could just make out the bow of the U-boat tilted upward at a good angle and that they also saw lots of oil in the wake of the sea prowler."

"We rushed, trying to ram the U-boat, but when we were within a hundred yards he disappeared. Within a few seconds the forward watch shouted, 'There he is.' We flung depth charges and brought up lots of oil."

"The men of the gun crew said they saw the submarine as we passed over him, with the bow pointing at a sharp angle and with a heavy list to starboard. The U-boat was stationary as far as we could tell and the last two depth charges were dropped directly on him, but I guess the prowler was pretty well done for before."

"Excited and hilarious, the Frenchmen climbed over the superstructure to the lifeboats and every time we dropped a depth charge they cheered and yelled 'Vive la Amerique!' and clapped their hands."

"There are mighty obstacles for the Allies to overcome in this theater of war, however. The Bulgarians and the Austro-German troops fighting with them have had years to lines."

AMERICANS CLOSE TO DEFENSES OF METZ

British Gain in New Blow Near St. Quentin--Americans Take Vendieres--French Gain Foothold On Chemin-Des-Dames--Good Results in Balkans.

With the Americans smashing south of Metz, the French advancing north of the Aisne river and the Allied forces plunging ahead on the Balkan front, the British struck a brand new blow northwest of St. Quentin today.

The new British assault followed a successful blow on Tuesday which put Holnon village in their possession. Holnon is only two and one-half miles from St. Quentin.

The Americans have taken and passed Vendieres on the Moselle river and were about in Pagny-sur-Moselle at last reports.

Pagny-sur-Moselle is about ten miles southwest of the great German fortress of Metz, but is much closer to the double chain of defensive works surrounding the city.

The French, after a series of brilliant attacks, have now gained a foothold on the western end of the Chemin-des-Dames, the road which lies upon the strategic line of hills just north of the Aisne river.

British forces on the Flanders front have again extended their positions south of La Bassée canal, but had to give a little ground at Moenvures in the face of a German attack which was carried out under the protection of a terrific barrage fire.

Moenvures lies directly west of Cambrai and the Germans in that zone are making the most desperate efforts to prevent the British turning movement which has Cambrai for its objective.

The new campaign in the Balkans is having magnificent results. French and Serbian troops are pounding the mountain positions of the Bulgarians in the district east of Monastir and have won ground of the utmost strategic importance.

From their new mountain positions the Allies now dominate terrain many miles in the rear of the Bulgarians' front lines and the Allied artillery can now put down a plunging fire directly against the Bulgarian defenses.

There are mighty obstacles for the Allies to overcome in this theater of war, however. The Bulgarians and the Austro-German troops fighting with them have had years to lines."

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Very Attractive Gown.

Waist, 2334; skirt, 2335. This model is excellent for the soft silks, velvets and crepes that are now so popular. The waist and skirt could also be finished separately. The style requires little trimming. A bit of lace or embroidery being quite sufficient. Combinations of material would be fine for this design. The waist pattern 2334 is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. The skirt pattern 2335 is cut in six sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. For a medium size the entire dress will require about 8 yards of 44 inch material, with 2 1/2 yards of silk or ribbon, 6 1/2 inches wide, for the sash ends of the waist. The skirt measures about 2 1/2 yards at the foot.

This illustration calls for two separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents for each pattern, in silver or stamps, to The Freeman Pattern Department. Be sure to state size.

The war has taught one important thing to those who are willing to learn. It has made things cost more; and when we pay more for a thing we're apt to be more particular to know what we're getting. The war has taught that good quality pays in economy, tho we have to pay more to get it.

Large Acreage of Wheat to be Sown
Reports being received by the bureau of crop estimates from all wheat-growing sections show that plans are being carried out to increase the acreage of wheat both in the winter and spring wheat belts. The work is being held up in some districts only because lack of rain has prevented fall plowing and preparation of the seed bed. Washington reports: "If rains occur, an extraordinarily large fall wheat acreage will be sown." In Indiana much ground has been plowed for fall sowing, reports state, and an exceptionally large acreage is predicted. In Kansas great preparations have been made all over the state for fall sowing. Similar reports come from Missouri, Iowa, Montana and other

GERMAN CONFESSIONS.

More and more are the Huns convicted out of their own mouths. Following several frankly written books by anonymous Germans came Prince Liechowsky's famous "memorandum" unanswerably placing the responsibility for this war upon the German leaders, and now comes the diary of Dr. Nuehlon with its illuminating revelations of German character. Here are some quotations from the former director of the Krupp works whose diary found its way into print:

When we Germans find ourselves the weaker party we demand of the other party treatment which we never vouchsafe when we are the stronger. If German policy consisted merely of selfishness and calculation, it would still be less contemptible than it is today by reason of its strong infusion of brutality. We have dealt more unscrupulously than ever. Bismarck did. The Germans calculate truth or falsehood as it suits the purposes of the moment. Disgusting hypocrisy and cunning, contempt for the people, and criminal anxiety manifest themselves in this official policy. It aims at nothing but the sanctification of falsehood, the adoration of brutality, and the deification of William II. No one in Germany believes that there is a more effective instrument than corruption.

The first quotation is particularly interesting at a time when the Germans, losing their old arrogance and confidence the moment disaster befalls, are howling like weaklings and reminding the world that the cornered bully is always a coward.

CHINESE AND OUR MANNERS.

The story goes that a Chinese mandarin and his inexperienced nephew took a hay ride near one of our seaside resorts and the former was so shocked by the "usual incidents" he witnessed that he hid to the ground and walked across lots to his hotel. "He endured much at first," reads the account, "but when the beaux began to hug the reclining belles he seized his young and susceptible nephew by the arm and vanished with him." Last is east and west is west. It was not the thing itself that shocked the dignified gentleman from China, it appears, but the publicity. A Chinaman sacrifices his dignity by talking with a woman in the presence of others, let alone by such familiarities as frightened this particular mandarin into jumping from the hay wagon with his nephew under his arm. The youngster's dignity was in jeopardy and had to be saved at any cost.

From the Chinese standpoint the hay wagon episode was more disgraceful to the men concerned than to the women. According to Smith's "Village Life in China," even a bridegroom is ashamed to be seen talking with his bride and if later they should show a disposition to exchange remarks in the presence of others such a phenomenon becomes "the joke of the whole family circle." Kipling well said that east is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet.

Liberia, "ninth nation on the list of Allies borrowing from the United States," gets $2,000,000. The little negro republic on the west coast of Africa is in no position to make any sort of war on Germany and cannot be expected to spend the money to advance in that way, but possibly it needs better roads and no doubt it has plenty of officials who would use larger salaries. It is suggested that our government's real object may be to coax more rubber out of well-stocked Liberia rather than the Liberians being rather indolent and rubber being not much too scarce.

The people of all sections of this country are determined to support the war and to reject all candidates who betray a contrary attitude. This has been shown in the defeat of Mayor Thompson of Chicago, of three Southern senators after the Congressional term, Culberson, Blaine and Hardwick, and by the turning down of several minor candidates. Only locally can war and there can be no real loyalty which does not involve wholehearted support of a just and necessary war.

The Germans boast that "when the Allies attack they will die." They mean to die. The Allies find that the "granite" readily crumbles in their path.

It is announced that the Spanish Influenza is more than epidemic. It is "pandemic" (universal) like "the grippe" which swept this country clean over in 1890 and was supposed to be of Russian origin.

When the Americans drive through Lorraine to the Rhine the Germans will find that the Belgian buffer they cling to so tenaciously is hung in the wrong place.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"What kind of coal are you using now?" "Coalless coal"—Life.

"How'd you like to be on Easy Street?" "Been there all my life. Any peddler can stick me"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Foh de life o' me," said Uncle Eben, "I can't see no hardship in food regulations dat puts it up to folks to eat mostly corn bread an' chicken."—Washington Star.

"What did you think of the technique of the prime donna last night, Mrs. Compu?" "Why, it was an old style. It even was huttoned down the back."—Baltimore American.

"And the tumbled-down cottage?" "Was the home of a poet. He's dead now." "The path to the door is overgrown with weeds." "Yes it has been some years since the postman quit delivering returned manuscripts at the poet's door."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Some All Over.

The average in England affords matter for much perplexity and astonishment to his English kinsmen.

A Yankee soldier was being shown over an old church wherein hundreds of people were buried. "A great many people sleep between these walls," said the guide, indicating the inscription-covered floor with a sweep of his hand. "So?" said the Sammy. "Same way over in our country. Why don't you get a more interesting preacher?"—Exchange.

The Frank Butler.

William H. Croker of San Francisco, who recently rebuilt a war-torn French village at his own expense, tells, apropos of the wine shortage, an amusing story.

"A friend of mine," so the story runs, "is remarkable for the bad wines he keeps. My friend, entertaining some rather important guests one evening turned to his new butler and said: 'Higgs, is this the best claret?' 'No, sir,' said Higgs, solemnly, 'it ain't, but it's the best you've got.'"—Washington Star.

Tragic.

There is a very pompous artist in New York who used to have a sense of humor. His quips were known everywhere. Now, however, since he has gained considerable vogue, he is taking himself and his work very seriously.

Owen Johnson, the novelist, saw him in a restaurant the other night, sitting solemnly alone. "Too bad," he said, real pity and tenderness in his voice. "Poor Arthur! He has severed his jocular vein!"—Exchange.

Perfectly Right Now.

"One moment, please," exclaimed the patient in the oculist's chair. "Well?" queried the oculist, as he dropped the eyelid.

"I just want to have an understanding," said the patient. "I want it thoroughly agreed, before you remove that foreign substance from my eye that it turns out to be coal dust it belongs to me."—Boston Transcript.

COMMITTEES NAMED TO WELCOME CLARK

Exercises at Forsyth Park on Saturday Afternoon at 5:30—Ulster's Visiting Sons to Join in Greeting Speaker.

Two committees of the leading citizens of Kingston are working like beavers to make Saturday, the home coming of Ulster county boys and the visit of Speaker Clark, a great day of patriotic demonstration.

With good reason it will be stamped as a victory day in which the citizens are expected to turn out in large numbers.

Mayor Canfield, whose committee is herein announced, is putting his full time into preliminary arrangements. Speaking of the plans that are being worked out for the demonstration, he said:

"We have not made definite arrangements as yet for we are not advised as to the time Speaker Clark will arrive in the city. He may come up Friday afternoon from Washington as far as Judge Parker's home and stay there over night. Being certain that he will reach here at the latest Saturday afternoon we have fixed the hour for the exercises at the park at 5:30 p. m. This gives the industrial workers and the people in the stores the chance to get over to the park and not lose a half day. We shall have seating capacity for 2,000 and reservation for 1,000 cars in the park. We have the assurance that there will be present at least one aviator. We are expecting the attendance of 15,000."

Chairman C. V. A. Decker, of the committee, of the home members of the association, announces that it will be necessary for the home members who are to attend the banquet to make known before hand their desire to sit down to the feed at the Suzyvessant and at the same time procure tickets of the chairman or of David Burgevin, the treasurer of the committee. He expects that Kingston will be honored with the presence of two aviators from Minnesota.

The gates at Kingston Point Park will be opened to conveniences on Saturday afternoon so that the cars may be driven in to the steamboat landing, it being the desire of the committee that the welcome to the visitors shall be extended by as many citizens as can be at the boat when it arrives, 2:10 p. m.

Mr. Decker this morning announced the committee of the home members of the Ulster County Society:

AMERICANS TEACH BRITISH BASEBALL WHILE GUNS BOOM ON WESTERN FRONT

APPROVED WAY OF HOLDING BASEBALL BAT.

Not even the roar of the big guns can stop the American soldiers from demonstrating the fine points of the grand old game of baseball. This British official photograph shows some of our troops acquainting their British comrades with the sport, while the shells shriek over the British western front. The Summary in the center is showing them the approved way of handling a bat. Note the perplexed position of the Tommy on the left. America's national game is fast becoming an international one, it having been widely acclaimed and adopted by both London and Paris, where many games have already been played to the great satisfaction of the populace.

THREE SACRIFICES IN INNING

Peculiar Happening in Recent Philadelphia-Cincinnati Game—Another Unique Inning.

It seldom happens that three sacrifice hits are recorded in one inning—the thing doesn't seem possible—but such was the case in one of the recent Cincinnati-Philadelphia games. In the eighth inning of this game in Cincinnati, Burns' bunt, a legitimate sacrifice, and so recorded, was thrown to third instead of first and intercepted nobody. Fitzgerald's bunt was checked wild by Schneider, and nobody was put out. Stock's long fly to left made the third sacrifice of this freakish inning.

This peculiar happening, however, is not as odd as a singular feature in a recent game between the Yankees and Browns. In this game a base hit was made in the fourth inning and yet Allen Sothoron pitched but three balls. Del Pratt was the first batter up. He hit the first ball pitched to center for a clean single. Walter Pipp hit the first ball pitched to him to Jimmy Austin and Pratt was forced to second base by Austin's throw to Joe Gedeon. Ping Bodie then hit the first ball pitched to him to Austin and a double play resulted. Gedeon and Siler making the put-outs.

NOW FIRST-CLASS MANAGER

Clarence Rowland of Champion White Sox Finally Given Credit for His Ability.

When Clarence Rowland first assumed the management of the White Sox he was generally ridiculed. Hard-hearted Chicago fans called him a "suck teacher" and said he'd never succeed. A year ago last fall, when the White Sox failed to win the pennant, Chicago fans clamored for Rowland's release. But Owner Comiskey stuck to him and got the supporters of the team. The winning of the world's championship last fall, therefore, vindicated both Comiskey and Rowland. The latter now is recognized as one of the most capable managers in the big leagues.

SCALY LEG CAUSED BY MITE

Kerosene Oil Can Be Used for Eradication—Cattle or Sheep Dip Also Is Favored.

Scaly leg in chickens is caused by a small mite that gets underneath the scale and causes swelling. Kerosene oil can be used to kill this, although the oil irritates some. If you have any cattle or sheep dip, put two or three tablespoonsful of this in a shallow, two-quart pan and soak the affected feet and legs in this for a minute once a day for two or three days, says Prof. H. E. Henshew of the department of poultry husbandry at Oklahoma A. and M. college, Stillwater.

TURKEYS ON AVERAGE FARM

Abundance of Feed Will Be Picked Up by Fowls During the Summer and Early Fall.

During the summer and early fall turkeys can find an abundance of feed on the average farm. About October 1 it is advisable to begin fattening them for the market, giving only a little feed at first and gradually increasing this until the birds are marketed. The marketing season for turkeys is very short, running only from the middle of September to the latter part of December.

Hartwig, while renewing old friendships, and upon her return will be accompanied by Mrs. Hartwig, who expects to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Frost and family, at Riverside, where Mrs. Emma Warren, a sister of Mrs. Hartwig, is also spending some months at the Frost home.

The members of the Ellenville Home Defense Reserve are lining up for work. Drilling commences on the driving park grounds Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. If stormy, the drill will be held in Norbury Hall.

At the next meeting of the board of supervisors it is expected that an appropriation will be made to provide uniforms for the local unit. All men in this vicinity are urged to join the Home Defense Unit and take advantage of this opportunity for military training. One hour per week is all that is required and a man who receives this training is practically assured of non-commissioned officer status upon entering the military service of the federal government. Nor ten per cent of the men going to the camp today have ever had any military training and as a result any man with such training is practically sure of quick advancement in the army. It is proposed to uniform the local unit and to make it a credit to this locality. All men between the ages of 16 and 45 are invited to attend drill Tuesday evening and enroll as members of this unit. Rev. George E. Wright, D. D., of Highland Mills was in charge of the services at the M. E. Church on Sunday, also the service at Ulster Heights M. E. Church Sunday afternoon. Dr. Wright delivered two exhortation sermons. The subject of the first sermon Sunday morning was taken from Luke 16:3, and the evening text was from Paul's letter to the Philippians 3:13-14. Dr. Count offered prayer at the morning service and Rev. G. H. Smith offered prayer at the evening service. On Sunday next Rev. Mr. Smith is to have charge of the services at the church both morning and evening.

The September meeting of the local Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held at Hunt Memorial Hall Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. David Watkins, who have conducted a millinery and general stock of fancy goods store in Ellenville for a number of years, and are among our best known and very highly respected citizens in business, church and social life, are to retire from business October first on account of Mr. Watkins's health.

Since the destruction of the Terwilliger House, where they resided, by fire in February, 1904, Mr. and Mrs. Watkins have had their home at the Mitchell House, and while they hoped by their many friends that they will continue to reside in Ellenville.

The Inspiration of Adversity

By FRANCIS H. SISSON,
Vice President Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

America may well look to France for example and inspiration in preparing to develop her foreign trade after the war. In all history there is no people whose rising to meet a seemingly overwhelming assault upon everything they consider worth while has and such power over the emotions of mankind. There has been a complete surrender of the nation as a whole to the idea that every available agency should be utilized for the single purpose of winning the war. France has sustained every shock of war. Some of the fairest portions of her territory have been overrun, and others are useless except for military operations.

Now, with characteristic adaptability, the French are transferring emergency into opportunity. In all the preparations for reconstruction which peace comes they are applying the principles that have been at the foundation of their efficiency in the war. They propose to keep mobilized for a considerable period after the war is over that spirit of unity, co-operation and concentration in enterprise that has kept them from collapse since the war began.

France sees clearly the double nature of her problem. She must restore the country itself and must re-establish the relationship with other countries. In doing both she looks to the United States for help. She proposes to purchase in this country vast supplies of raw material, building supplies and machinery, which she cannot get from her colonies or from other nations. She proposes, in the work of rehabilitation, to get for these things and to export the dollars she now earns by selling to this country not only an increased quantity of these things in the market, but also the surplus, but also these things for which the country is the best looking to Germany. She refuses to consider purchasing of raw materials in Germany. She believes, too, that we shall rather buy from her than Germany.

France's determination to eliminate Germany from future economic relationships is well illustrated in her plans regarding the future of the coal-mining industry. The French intend from now on to develop to the limit the production of raw materials for use in the manufacture of chemicals for which the necessity of war has proved their equality, and to increase greatly the number of their factories engaged in the manufacture of chemicals. New companies have been organized, and capitalizations have been increased since the war began, and special schools are conducting chemists.

The Republican Committee of Commerce, Industry and Agriculture, which was founded in 1914 under the auspices of the Ministry of Commerce, has been studying the possibilities of the French colonies and of friendly countries to ascertain where products formerly imported from Germany are to be obtained. The French government is now conducting an extensive investigation of the possibilities of the French colonies and of friendly countries to ascertain where products formerly imported from Germany are to be obtained.

The French war debt at the close of this year probably will be nearly $24,000,000, or about four times what it was before the war. For several years France has been a lender to Russia, and the present state of that country has suspended the payment of the. A rental is paid by the government and an allowance for the expenses, maintenance, working capital and other things made. Ship owners themselves manage their fleets and are encouraged to make them as effective as possible by the distribution of bonuses and the replacing of ships that are sunk.

Ships cannot now be built in France. The Minister of Maritime Transport and Merchant Marine holds that to bring materials from the United States or England would handicap French shipbuilders because of the cost of materials and transportation. This would mean that French exporters would have to pay higher freight rates to the owners after the ships were in the water. This would place not only exporters but all French industry under a handicap in the competition for after-war markets. It is proposed, therefore, that the state shall replace destroyed ships, as it can buy materials more cheaply, and therefore will be able to contract for new ships on a basis of insuring reasonable rates to the trader. The government contracts to replace ships in this manner within three years after the war, these ships becoming the absolute property of those from whom their equivalents have been requisitioned.

On the other hand, the Ministry proposes to build a state-owned fleet for the colonies, which will be managed by ship owners, the state sharing in the profits and deficits. There will be no more subsidies for ships in which the government has no interest. With these plans go proposed harbor improvements. France has today no harbor where ships of the largest types can dock. The government plans further to co-ordinate railroads and shipping lines, especially across the Mediterranean to Algiers and Tunis.

While France cannot avoid making extensive purchases of building materials and machinery abroad, she plans to curtail largely her food imports. Wheat, barley and rye are grown ordinarily, but the war has brought many changes, and the French are getting acquainted with the cheaper cereals, such as Indian corn, millet and rice flour. In the government report on war economy it was recommended that every parcel of soil not cultivated be sown without delay with wheat, barley, Indian corn and oats, and planted with potatoes and vegetables.

Legislation to increase agricultural production is being framed. Decried territory will be cultivated. A back-to-the-farm movement has been inaugurated, and bonuses are to be given to those who abandon their ancient employments for modern agricultural machinery.

France has no such resources of men and materials as have Great Britain and the United States. She understands that without the most intense application of energy to such resources as she has, increased production, elimination of all waste, and a resolute effort to win foreign markets, she will be unable to remain her standing among commercial nations. That effort she is making. She invites the United States to establish relations with her that will be of mutual benefit. There is for this country no greater opportunity for service and profit.

A Different Process

—and a different malted milk—a real malted milk. The milk-casein is actually acted upon by malt ferments which partially predigest it. Hence, Borden's—the perfected malted milk. ## MULLAHEY WITH THE CAMIONS

Former Kingston Resident Sends Interesting Tale of Activities of Transport Branch but Little in the Public Eye—Live Like Gypsies.

CORPORAL JAMES MULLAHEY.

A former resident of Kingston, son of Mr and Mrs James Mullahey of No 525 1/2 Main street, Poughkeepsie. Left a year ago for France. His address is Motor Truck Co 360, Contour Autos, American Exp Force, American Mission, Paris, B. C. M.

Corporal Mullahey sends the following clipping showing the good work of the boys in France.

In a summer when again and again the historic phrase "Franco-American troops" makes its appearance in the communiques the distinction of being the most complete amalgam of the two armies belongs to that flying squadron of emergency transportation, that trundling of camions, the Mallet Reserve. This organization consists of 700 5-ton trucks—American trucks driven over French roads, driven now by French, now by American drivers, officered by French and American officers, carrying French and American troops, French and American ammunition.

The Mallet Reserve is so named because its commanding officer is Major Mallet of the French Cavalry, and is called a reserve because it is attached to no army corps, but rather is held in reserve for emergency duty whenever a crisis in the war brings a crisis in transportation. This means that the interminable line of camions bearing the Mallet mark will invariably appear whenever things are hottest, that the trucks and their drivers know no rest from one year's end to the other.

UP Cambray Way.

Thus you saw them along the roads up Cambray way last fall when French troops were rushed into the gap that opened during the German drive of March 21. Mallet trucks carried them, and they were Mallet trucks which bore forth and the French soldiers who made their sudden and startling appearance among the British in Flanders during the April fighting. The American troops and ammunition that were moved with a rush to the lines of the Chateau-Thierry front were transported, many of them, in the home-grown camions of the Mallet Reserve.

The trucks themselves, if you examine them, tell many a story of transport under shell fire, tell of machine gunners who were rushed into the battle so that the gunners need only drop from the camion run across a field and start firing. The personnel of the Mallet Reserve numbers 3,500. Of these, 1,300 are Americans. Some of the Americans are alumni of the old American Field Ambulance, some of the officers began as ambulance drivers with that group of volunteers who preceded the A. E. F. Some of the Americans who drive these trucks first learned their trade at the wheel of their own fast roadsters back home, some of them learned it at that company of lower East Side taxi drivers who were for ever appearing in the gang fights which used to excite New York when there were no greater fights to absorb its attention.

They live in their trucks, sleep in their trucks. They move over France like gypsies. Whenever a group of trucks, or company with draws from the road into a field for a few days rest and repair, the trucks still serve as tents. Time was when each truck dragged its driver's quarters behind in the form of a trailer, but it was found that this wasted gas, so the trailers were abolished and the drivers of the Mallet Reserve now move and live in their trucks as a turtle lives in its shell.

Has it got everything you want in a cigarette?

Blow the smoke out slowly over the tip of your tongue. Do you get smoothness, fragrance, body and "pep"?

You have to get them all or it's not a real smoke. Nature never grew one tobacco that would give you such a smoke. It has to be made for you. That's why in making Mecca cigarettes they have to use 12 different tobaccos—7 American and 5 Turkish.

They take these 12 tobaccos, mix them in just the right proportion and then for 50 hours pass moist heat through them all.

This is the famous Still-Blend process. This is how they draw the smoothness and fragrance of the Turkish leaf into the American, and the "pep" and body of the American into the Turkish.

This is why over a million Mecca smokers find everything they want in a cigarette.

KEEP UP THE SCHOOLS.

President Approves Campaign to Maintain Attendance.

President Wilson has written a letter to Secretary of the Interior Lane approving the campaign of the bureau of education for the support of the schools and the maintenance of attendance upon them during the war. The president's letter follows.

The White House, Washington.

My dear Mr Secretary: I am pleased to know that despite the unusual burdens upon our people by the war they have maintained their schools and other agencies of education so nearly at their normal efficiency. That this should be continued throughout the war and that, in so far as the draft law will permit, there should be no falling off in attendance in elementary schools, high schools or colleges is a matter of the very greatest importance, affecting both our strength in war and our national welfare and efficiency when the war is over. So long as the war continues there will be constant need of very large numbers of men and women of the highest and most thorough training for war service in many lines. After the war there will be urgent need not only for trained leadership in all lines of industrial, commercial, social and civic life, but for a very high average of intelligence and preparation on the part of all the people. I would therefore urge that the people continue to give generous support to their schools of all grades and that the schools adjust themselves as wisely as possible to the new conditions to the end that no boy or girl shall have less opportunity for education because of the war and that the nation may be strengthened as it can only be through the right education of all its people. Cordially and sincerely yours,

WOODROW WILSON.
Hon. Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior.

WORK OF Y. M. C. A. ON WEST FRONT

American Doughboys Appreciate Its Helping Hand.

TRIANGLE HUT SOLDIERS' MECCA

Fighters From All Parts of United States Receive Same Attention. Army Officers Thrust Further Responsibilities on Y. M. C. A. and Sum Needed for Work May Reach Over $100,000,000—Drive Set for Nov. 11 to 18 Inclusive.

By LLOYD S. GRAHAM.

"It isn't the fact you are selling chocolate and cigarettes that makes the boys over here strong, for you people. It is the fact you are bringing a little bit of home to us here in France."

That quotation from an American doughboy who has been in the trenches, is the real reason that the Y. M. C. A. with the American expeditionary forces has the standing it does among all service men.

This standing has not been gained through show, but through actual service in bringing just a little bit of the Annex, fighter's home to him on the shell-torn Western front.

It doesn't matter whether that home was up in the state of Oregon, or in the mountain fastnesses of West Virginia, or on a shanty boat on the Mississippi, or in a flat in America's own Babylon, or a palace on the Hudson.

When a man has been in the thick of fighting for weeks, and has reached a point where he feels existence is extremely precarious—really only a matter of minutes or hours—he has almost come to believe that he is being offered as a sacrifice to the whims of other people. But when he comes out of the fight, to the rest billets, and he is greeted by the Y. M. C. A. man in the Red Triangle hut, or dugout, he gets over the feeling that he is merely a cog in the machine of war.

The Y. M. C. A. in that case is to him the last evidence that anybody cares. The Y. M. C. A. to the fighters for democracy, not only with the American army, but with all the other armies of Europe, stands for that high ideal and is a matter of service representing the high ideal for which the Americans are fighting.

Reason Y. M. C. A. is Popular.

It was nearly a year ago that the people of this country contributed more than fifty millions of dollars to the Y. M. C. A. for its war work with the American troops and those of our Allies. Since that time the American army has been increased many times and with the increase has grown in even greater ratio the demand for service from the Red Triangle.

In the training camps of America, the United States soldiers, either draft men or volunteers, did not appreciate the Y. M. C. A. as they are beginning to do over in France where it is, aside from their officers, practically the only friend and tie that keeps them in touch with the other million members of the homes they love in America.

The demands on the Red Triangle for service are so much greater that the sum estimated as necessary to carry on the work needed for the comfort and the high fighting morale of the American troops during the coming year, will be more than $100,000,000. The campaign dates have been set for Nov. 11 to 18 inclusive.

More Responsibility for Y. M. C. A.

After all, the Red Triangle, like kindred organizations, is merely an agent for these home folks who are thinking continually of their boys with the American expeditionary forces. It is up to these home folks to keep the American fighters as comfortable as possible. It is up to them to give them the highest possible morale, so that they can realize every minute that there is some one back home who appreciates what they are doing and who feels a real part in the risks that they are taking. Such a morale as has been maintained thus far can have but one end for the war and that of course is the speedy defeat of German autocracy.

During the past year the army of officers have thrust further responsibilities on the Y. M. C. A. One of the first was the canteen service which makes the Red Triangle men agents for the supply business for our troops, which will, during the first year, be greater in volume than the largest five and ten cent syndicate in the country has been able to build.

up in ten years of most aggressive modern methods of business administration. Following that came the organization of the "Overthere" Theater League, in which the influence and interest of the best people in the theatrical profession have been enlisted to give entertainment to the soldiers in France. These entertainments have been such that if paid for, would cost many million dollars during the year.

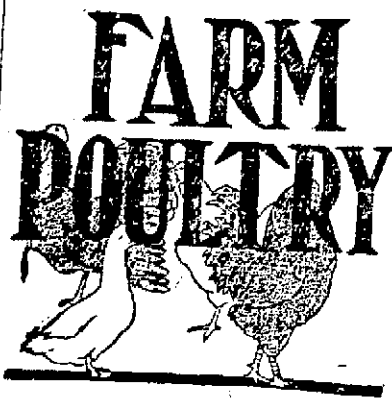

These are only two of the many special services which the Y. M. C. A. has made available. In a recent interview, Dr. John R. Mott, General Secretary of the National War Council of the Y. M. C. A., told of a conversation he had with General Edwards in France one day immediately after that officer had heard of one of his units being caught between the enemy's barrage and the fire of their own artillery.

"It was their first baptism by fire," he said sorrowfully. "Their first exposure to the fearful destruction of modern warfare."

"General," asked Dr. Mott, "how do you explain it? How is it possible for these boys to come from their peaceful homes right into the teeth of such a fearful experience and to stand up before it like veterans?"

"If you want my explanation," said the general, "it is very simple: I give all the credit to the tradition of the American mother."

It is the task of the Y. M. C. A., by the help they receive from the people in the homes of the land, to maintain this tradition of the American mother intact till the end of the war.

PROPER HANDLING OF EGGS

Enormous Loss Can Be Prevented by Taking Necessary Precautions in Marketing.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Millions of eggs produced in this country find no one. The natural question is, Why? And the answer is that they are carelessly handled, poorly packed in improperly constructed cases, badly stored in freight cars, or allowed to become warm on their journey from the hen's nest to the home. Prevent this enormous loss of valuable food and loss of profits. Take every possible precaution to keep eggs fresh and wholesome, as they are when freshly laid. It's easy to get eggs to market in prime condition.

A stale egg pleases no one. Heat is the egg's enemy; cold is its friend. Precooling eggs before shipping them, therefore, saves food material. It checks the development of "blood-ribs," which occur in fertile eggs subject to incubating temperature (68 degrees or higher). It prevents "addled" eggs, the term applied to eggs when the membrane between the yolk and the white breaks, allowing the two to become mixed. When the eggs are warm this delicate membrane becomes soft, in which condition it is more liable to break by jars which are unavoidable in transportation. Chilling makes the egg stiff and jellylike, and cold eggs ride best. Precooling retards evaporation, the cause of shrunk eggs. Eggs just laid are full, but 65 per cent of their contents is water. As this water evaporates, the quality of the eggs is reduced. Warm temperatures add evaporation. Precooling helps to make a uniform product, and this is a day of standardization. A weak spot in the egg trade is the lack of uniformity or standardization for its product. If each case of eggs received at the market was exactly like the last one, the shipper could establish a reputation for uniformity.

Eggs to be shipped should be well packed in clean, standard egg cases. They should be kept under refrigeration and sent to market in properly cooled refrigerated cars which retain their good quality. Refrigeration during transit maintains quality, weight, fresh appearance and food value. It retards loss of quality, shrinkage, "blood-ribs" and loss of food value.

Shippers' Cost City $7.300.

The two new bridges over the tracks of the Central New England railroad at North Chatham street and on Parker avenue will cost $7,300,000. An order from the public service commission compelling the city to pay that amount as the share of the cost of construction has been received and turned over to the city.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

Superintendent Van Keuren, of the board of public works, was busy Tuesday looking at various locations about the city for a suitable place for the aviator who is to fly here Saturday to start his machine from and also to land. A number of likely sites were investigated and the only available site Mr. Van Keuren could find that answered the purpose was the Watson Freer farm on the Saugerties road, near the West Shore railroad crossing.

The city has secured permission to use a large field on the farm. Four large poles painted white will be erected one at each of the four corners. The aviator will start from this field and will fly over Forsyth Park, and then will return to the field to land. Fuller details will be given later.

"Flossie," the little red Ford of Superintendent of Fire Alarm Richard A. Elmendorf, looks rather peculiar since the collision on Broadway the other day, when it was rammed by another car. A black wheel, a black fender, a black tool box and a few other parts painted black were installed on the machine to replace the parts that were wrecked. Flossie looks like a spotted auto, but only for a short time, as the new black parts will be painted red to correspond with the rest of the car.

The rain today stopped all street work. Work on the Hasbrouck avenue hill is progressing, and one side of the hill will be completed this season. Superintendent Van Keuren has been somewhat up against it, but considering all things is making good progress.

There were no cases in police court today.

BY CARL HOLLIDAY

To a native Yankee who can still remember old times the word "religion" can hardly fail to suggest the more or less willing habit of listening to two long sermons every Sunday and of saying your prayers before you get into bed. There may be some clergymen remaining in America who still consider these two habits as absolute essentials of godliness, but to the American generation now in the war-time religion has come to mean something vastly different and greater.

Oh, these war parsons—how they have dropped the shackles of conventional creeds! How they have revised the simple philosophy of Jesus—the simple philosophy of service to one's neighbor man. I have seen them under heart-breaking circumstances "over here," and my faith in American preachers has suddenly come far above par.

DISREGARD NON-ESSENTIALS.

War has compelled them to slough off all non-essentials and personal diffidence. The barnstorm preachers that back home they were men in the right path in those three or four hours then possibly in any equal number of years of Jesus duplicated ten thousand times by common, wayward mortals on the battlefields of France; they have retained what the American preacher was in danger of losing—belief in the innate nobility of the average man.

In these very acts against which many a person in his home parish shot his brimstone exhortation, he was gladly participating. He is becoming what every parson should be—most enthusiastically human.

One Sunday not long ago a T. M. C. A. secretary met a Methodist preacher, also a secretary, going across a French field, with a baseball bat under one arm, a large bundle of cigarettes under the other, and a Bible sticking out of his pocket. The parson dropped, somewhat embarrassed.

"I don't know," he stammered, "whether you will understand this. It isn't quite orthodox, you know. I am afraid my congregation would not understand, and I know my bishop wouldn't, but somehow my bishop like that and put his head over his heart, somehow something in here tells me that if it isn't orthodox it is all right anyhow."

That preacher, going forth to manure a hell game on Sunday afternoon, was keeping more men in the right path in those three or four hours than possibly in any equal number of years in his ministry. And I think his bishop would have understood.

I know one Episcopal bishop over here who gets out his big black pipe, sits down among the soldiers in the Y. M. C. A. hut, and smokes and talks for hours with them. Give him thirty minutes with such a group of young fellows and he will have them pouring out their very souls to him.

THE SMOKING PROBLEM.

And about the smoking—how dreadful, how sinful it was back home! On the home coming over, a fellow writer demonstrated loud and long with me about my enjoying large fat black cigars—or any other kind.

"Do you not know," he exclaimed, "that it was a very bad example, and besides, it was very distasteful to those of us who do not smoke?"

Not that the boys do not care for someone. I have seen them crowded together upon the rough benches of the bus listening to a preacher with a reverence that I have seldom found in an American church, and on a Sunday when the sacrament is served and they kneel by scores about the rude platform that serves as altar one is convinced that religion is still a vital force in the hearts of the young. But they want their sermons at opportune times and they want a real man behind the sermon.

DENOMINATIONS FORGOTTEN.

Denominationalism? It is forgotten. Recently a Y. M. C. A. secretary, one of the most prominent of New England Presbyterian preachers, walked seven miles to get a crucifix for a wounded Catholic soldier. Another secretary, pastor of one of the most fashionable Methodist churches in Massachusetts, served without discrimination Catholic, Protestant and Jew until, gassed and feverish, he was compelled by the Association, manager of the district to go to a hospital. But, even in this condition, he turned to me with a weak smile, and declared, "This is the life for me! I wouldn't have missed it for the world."

When the rector of one of the largest Episcopal churches in the South serves month after month in a cellar canteen in the side of a hill, when a professor of theology walks eight miles with a sixty-pound pack of supplies on his back in order that the boys with whom he lives in a chivalric quarry may have tobacco and sweets and magazines; when the chaplain of an American university chops wood and builds fires and heats water for the soul-sick men returning in the dark from the trenches, when these things happen the most irreligious of us must acknowledge that in this hour of travail the spirit of Jesus has returned to the world.

We can indeed fully agree with a raw Yankee trooper whose language was more picturesque than select when he exclaimed, "I never thought there was a hell of a lot in this Christianity business, but damned if I don't believe there is now."

CONSCIENCE TROUBLE.

Are there war parsons changing the conscience of the men? There is an Indian soldier who, if he could, would answer from the world beyond. Talk with a Y. M. C. A. secretary about drinking and he promised to quit, but suddenly temptation had overcome him, and when he awoke in the night he found himself locked in the guard-house. Since by the thought that he had deserted his regiment, he broke out of the prison, obtained a gun, ran to the trenches and cut over No Man's Land and the last that was seen of him in the gray dawn was his lightning victory battle with a mob of Huns in the enemy's trenches. Only in this way did he feel that he could square himself with God and his regiment.

Whether the American church will sink back after the war into the quiet anti-bellum conservatism and stoniness is yet to be seen. Whether it becomes once more the most dynamic force in civilization depends upon its ability to see and seize an opportunity.

But whatever happens, those of us who have served in Europe shall ever remember and cherish the war parson as one who worshipped God by serving men.

LONDON APPROVES WILSON'S NOTE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 18.—The morning papers today play up President Wilson's answer to the Austrian peace note in their leading columns. They also unanimously agree in laudatory editorials that the answer is the right one. The comment praises the brevity of the note and the quickness with which it was despatched, recalling that it is in marked contrast to old world red tape and diplomatic verbiage.

The Times says: "America makes short work of diplomatic cobwebs. The note is exactly what it ought to be and what, without doubt, the answer of the Entente powers will be."

"Now, if we want to widen the breach in the ranks of the enemy, the Allies as a whole should follow America and a formal endorsement of the 'fourteen points' set forth by President Wilson. This would not only focus the movement against Austrian military tyranny in Austria but in Germany as well."

The Telegraph declares that the quickness and brevity of the Wilson note is precisely suited to the case. "It is a refreshing and dignified expression," the paper adds. "It shows that President Wilson is an apostle of prompt diplomacy. His answer was immediate and unequivocal. The United States already has stated its peace terms and they must be accepted and not discussed. That is all."

The Chronicle declares that President Wilson's action makes it certain that the entente will also reject the peace note and that America will not participate in any conference unless they are based on the "fourteen points," set forth by President Wilson.

Help to Halt Hog-Cholera Ravages.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 18. Farmers should insist that all the stock hogs which they purchase for feeding purposes should be properly vaccinated by competent and conscientious veterinarians in order to prevent the spread of hog cholera, says the United States department of agriculture.

(Unlike the larger stock yards of the country, which are properly protected by qualified government representatives, many of the smaller local yards are entirely without safeguards against cholera.)

Immature hogs go from the farms of origin mainly because of lack of feed or on account of disease. The purchaser who buys such sick hogs on the market for feeding purposes usually introduces disease into his home herd.

To stimulate production and to conserve our available pork supply, note that vaccinated, immunized, healthy hogs should be maintained in the feed lot. If the farmer wishes to aid efficiently in halting the huan, he should help increase our hog supply by routing disease.

Bondless Homes.

There is now a great fraternity of holders of Liberty Bonds whose membership extends from Maine to California.

During the campaign for the Third Liberty Loan they proudly displayed in the windows of their homes posters announcing that they had bought bonds.

But there were homes where no such posters were displayed. No Liberty Bonds had been purchased by the members of these households.

In the campaign for the Fourth Liberty Loan, now at hand, these people will have a chance to redeem themselves for their failure to do so.

What is what is necessary (ownership of Liberty Bonds means that the holder has loaned his money to the government, thus taking a personal part in the carrying on of the war.)

While he has been attending to this obligation, his dollars have been fighting.

Robert Porter Not Heard From.

Robert Porter, whose parents live at 26 Chapel street, has been missing since last June, when he left his employment at the Sugarbush Hotel for New York. His father brought out a notice from a Federal Marshal that Robert was back in town last August but has been unable to find out other trace of him. He was about 15 years old. The parents would be grateful for any information regarding him.

FARMERS' MARKET REPORT NO. 3

Below is the full weekly report of marketing conditions issued by the State Division of Foods and Markets from the New York office:

Conditions and prices prevailing for the week of September 10 to 17:

The Potato Situation.

Next week will practically finish shipping from New Jersey. Maine has started shipping but, as yet, only a few cars have reached New York. Maine farmers are receiving $2.25 for a 165 pound barrel of green stock. This is about $1.20 a bushel. The prices in the country are higher than the prices realized in the New York markets, and dealers claim they are losing money. At the present other cities are better markets than New York, because the Long Island farmers are bringing in large quantities of potatoes which, at present, are preferred by the consumers. Long Island farmers are getting $1.50 a bushel when they haul direct to the market. New Jersey farmers are getting $1.75 to $1.85 per bushel.

Prevailing Prices on New York Markets.

Number 1. New Jersey Cobblers (round) bring from $4 to $4.40 per 150 pound sack. This is equal to $1.60 to $1.76 per bushel. Number 2's are selling for $2.40 to $2.65 per 150 pound sack or 96 cents to $1.06 per bushel.

Number 1. Giants are ranging from $3.50 to $4.20 per 150 pound sack or $1.40 to $1.68 per bushel.

Number 2. Giants moved at $2.40 to $2.60 per 150 pound sack or 96 cents to $1.40 per bushel.

The demand and movement is slow, the greatest per cent of the business is being done with contractors who buy for the army, navy and steamships. The general trade are buying Long Island potatoes because they are cheaper.

New Jersey potatoes are sold in 150 pound bags or sacks (net weight) but the Long Island potatoes are sold in bulk, the buyers must furnish their own bags or barrels. When potatoes are bought direct from the Long Island farmers who haul their crop to the markets, a barrel containing 3 bushels or 160 pounds is used; but when Long Island potatoes are shipped in and handled by dealers, they are sold on the basis of 165 pound barrel.

Hereafter quotations will be given in terms of bushels irrespective of whether they are sold on the market in 150 pound sacks, 165 pound barrels or 180 pound sacks.

The Apple Situation.

The demand for highly colored apples is much greater than the supply. Jonathan, Grade A, sold for $8.50; Alexander, Grade A, $5.50 to $6.00; Dutchess, Grade A $6 to $7; North-western, Grade A, $7; Number 2, $2.50; bushel baskets of Grade A, York, $2; Wealthy, Grade A, $5 to $6. Quotations are made on standard 3 bushel barrel.

Special Note.

Bartlett pears, No. 1, $9 per barrel. Crabapples, bushel baskets, $2.50 to $4.00. Fancy State Elberta peaches, scarce, bushel baskets sold for $4.50.

Live Stock Situation.

The high prices two weeks ago induced the shippers to over supply the market with a poor class of stock, particularly calves. Prime calves bring 20c to 21c; common calves, 15c to 19c; throwouts, 11c to 15c; buttermilks, 7 1/2c to 8 1/2c. Trading very slow on account of Jewish holidays.

Good fat cows, 7 1/2 to 9 1/2; fleshy cows 5 1/2 to 6 1/2; bologna cows, 4c to 4 1/2; bulls 5c to 9 1/2c.

Prime state lamb sold from 17c to 19 1/2; sheep from 9c to 12c.

Hogs.

Prime state hogs from 20c to 21c; top roughs, 18c.

The Hay Situation.

The market was very firm with indications of an advance in price on better grades of hay. Please note that this is an indication only and conditions are just as likely to change as not.

A large stock of undergrade hay in small bales is on hand but only a limited demand at the lowest prices exists.

Very few requests for permits to ship hay have been received and only a part of these are granted by the authorities. This is done to conserve cars so that other commodities may get their share. It has the effect of keeping the prices up and thus works in favor of the farmers.

The U. S. government is now buying hay in large quantities direct from the country shippers and farmers. They use this hay, not only for feeding, but also for filling the soldiers' cots. They allow each soldier 30 pounds a month for this purpose.

Farmers everywhere are finding it difficult to get hay baled on account of the labor shortage. No new hay is arriving.

No. 1 Timothy, free from clover, brought from $21 to $25. No. 2, containing one-eighth clover, ranged from $25 to $30. No. 3, containing one-fourth clover, brought from $24 to $27. Fancy light clover mixed, containing one-fourth clover, sold from $28 to $30. Shipping, cut hay, which is not as good as No. 2, that is cut and sold for $20 to $22 per ton.

There was no alfalfa on the market. No. 1 hay (straw, straw, brought from $14 to $19 and No. 2 was sold for from $14 to $17.

Small bales of No. 2 hay sold for $2 less than large bales of the same grade. Small bales of other grades sold at about a dollar a ton less than large bales of the same grade.

Special Notice to Shippers of Hay.

Partners who ship their own hay need not take out a state license or a Federal license but all persons who ship hay not produced by themselves must secure a Federal license from the Bureau of Food and Agriculture.

All persons selling hay on commission must secure a state license issued by the division of foods and markets.

VETERANS TALK OF THE STIRRING DAYS

Of the Civil War—Have Enjoyable Time at Annual Reunion Held at Kingston Hotel—Officers Elected—To Place Regimental Flag in City Hall.

As told in The Freeman Tuesday, the 20th N. Y. State Militia, held its annual reunion Tuesday at the Kingston Hotel. The business meeting was held at 11 o'clock at which time officers were elected, reports submitted, and other matters taken up. The banquet was held at 1 o'clock.

The following officers were elected: President, Major William Vallette of Kingston; first vice president, Oliver A. Campbell; second vice president and treasurer, E. J. Nichols of Kingston; and the president was also elected secretary.

It was voted to place the regimental flag which has been kept in the Senate House here, in the city hall, and the following committee was appointed to take the matter up: Commanding Major Vallette, Nichols and Perrine.

Comrade Ely McCreery gave an interesting account of his visit, with others, to Gettysburg and Antietam, those historical battlefields of the Civil War. The occasion of the visit was the unveiling of monuments of General Abner Doubleday and John C. Robinson.

The names of those who have answered the last roll call since the reunion last year, were read. They are: Comrades George Van Bumble, David Murphy, Luther H. Lawrence, Jacob F. Stoll and Lieutenant Isaac Thomas.

Letters of regret were read from Lieutenant John H. Dunn of Jersey City; Isaac Jeff of Hasbrouck, N. Y.; John J. Krom, St. Augustine, Florida; and Sarah J. Loomis, secretary of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the G. A. R. of the State of New York.

The banquet was all that could be desired. The dining room was decorated with the American and Allied flags. Music was furnished by an orchestra from New York city. Comrade Campbell, in the absence of Mayor Canfield, who was called out of town on business, acted as toastmaster. There were a number of inspiring addresses.

After the banquet the veterans "visited" each other and swapped tales of the stirring days of the civil war and discussed the great war for democracy that is being waged now. Although old in years, these veterans are still young in spirit and would be glad to take their place on the firing line now.

Those present at the reunion: Asa Bishop, Brothhead, Ellenville; Gilbert F. Cornelius, Ellenville; Augustus Cole, Ulster Park; Oliver A. Campbell, Brooklyn; Duane C. Dutcher, Big Indian; Hugh Donahue, Niverville; James E. Dunnigan, Ashokan; J. Wesley Edmonds, Arlington, N. Y.

William Flowers, Kingston; E. M. Finch, M. D., New Rochelle; David Gregor, Locust, N. J.; George L. Hughson, Peekskill; John Hetzel, Kingston.

Douglas Marquardt, Rhinebeck; George Mackie, Albany; Daniel McMichael, Kingston; E. J. McGreevy, Cornwall; E. J. Nichols, Kingston.

SAVE FRUIT PITS.

"A Few Peach Stones May Save a Soldier's Life."

The Federal food board today (Monday) on behalf of the United States food administration, sent out an urgent call for the saving of fruit pits and nut shells from which to make carbon for gas masks for our fighters in France. A statement issued by the board follows:

"Investigation by chemists has shown that pits of apricots, peaches, plums, olives, dates, cherries and plums and the shells of Brazil and hickory nuts, walnuts and butternuts make the best carbon for gas masks."

"All pits and shells saved should be dried and turned into the nearest receiving station. The Red Cross will arrange for their shipment to central points. Grocers are requested to provide receptacles in their stores, into which pits and shells can be dropped, and to urge that their patrons save every seed. Canners have been requested to save all pits."

"Pits, seeds and shells should be thoroughly cleaned and dried in the sun or in ovens before being turned over to the government. Only those named are of use. Housewives putting up fruit for the winter should lay aside their fruit pits and shells for collection by Red Cross, Boys and Girls or other organizations."

The pits and shells are shipped by parcel post from collecting territory in large centers in each state, in boxes or cartons of not more than twenty pounds in weight. Later, carload shipments of twenty tons each will be made in centers of collection.

A few peach stones may save a soldier's life. Is the slogan of the campaign.
